The floor plans and artistic renderings of the models may assist the public in visualizing the homes. However, they may not accurately depict actual homes when built. WaterCrest Development LLC, its construction manager, other agents and suppliers reserve the right to change the floor plans, specifications and features without prior notice. Pricing and availability of options is subject to change without prior notice or obligation. Depending on the status of construction of each individual home, some options may not be available or may only be available at a substantial cost to the buyer. Actual square footages may differ as described in section 1 (b) (4) of the prospectus.
